

AFTER THE TONE

Writers: Jackson Harris/Johnathan Bond

1st

I bet she's drivin south down the interstate
Or sipping tear filled coffee at some small cafe
I'm sure she's wonderin what I'm doing now
Since she packed up and left our little town
It's not quite what I had in mind
But I'm standing stronger than I was last time

Chorus:

Lord sometimes it's hard to learn from the past
The memories of yesterday will they always last
When she stops to call
From that same old payphone
She'll hear please leave a message
After the tone

Tomorrow's a new day, a new song to write
One more good reason, to get her off my mind
Cause I know that she won't stop breaking my heart
Lord help me to find a new place to start
It's not quite what I had in mind
But I'm standing stronger than I was last time
