Eighteen, thinking he knew everything
Made up his mind to leave and off he went
Couple wrong turns, hard lessons learned
Wondering if he could ever earn his daddy's trust again
Open arms were there to pull him in (He said)

Chorus:

I don't know why it took so long
To climb back in your arms
Cause no matter how I wonder lord you've always had my heart
I'm not who I want to be but closer than I was back when
And it's so good to be back home again

So Amazed at that kind of grace that somehow saved him from himself
It's a story that I know oh too well (and)

TAG

I'm not who I want to be but closer than I was back when
And it's so good to be back home again
